COLOSSUS
FIRE PROTECTION

“We protect your people
and your assets”

Company summary

Colossus Fire Protection was established after identifying a clear need to provide comprehensive, consultative and compliance driven fire services to both residential and commercial clients.

There was an industry need to be able to provide full circle services – not simply set and forget sales or installation services with little knowledge or understanding of the products being engaged.

Our mission and indeed, our day to day operations follow a simple mandate.

We provide professional, cost effective, functional and full circle fire protection services that offer appropriate and professional fire protection for our clients, their people, and their assets.

Consultative, transparent and client outcome focussed, Colossus is now setting the industry standard.

Core competencies

Experience

In fire protection, there are rarely second chances, so experience in fire protection services matters more than in almost any other industry.

We bring more than 50 years of coal face experience to the industry and take the time to understand the exacting needs of clients.

There is little point in identifying a need and not having the experience required to meet that need.

Accreditation

Our across the board accreditation, regulatory compliance and health and safety allows our people to lead, manage and operate emergency control organisations.

The end result? Keeping our clients safe.

1. NSW Certificate III in Fire Protection
2. Accredited Fire Safety Adviser
3. Test & Inspect Certification II
4. Certified Fire Safety Practitioner (CFSP)
5. Work, Health, Safety and Environment (WHSE)

Core competencies

Consultation

There is never a one size fits all solution. Colossus engages a consultative process that ensures clients secure a tailored solution that aligns directly with their needs.

Full circle services

For certainty, we provide end to end services for clients. This includes consultation, product selection, sourcing, installation, testing and maintenance. This gives our clients peace of mind knowing they are always protected.

Industry best product selection

We are not aligned to any product or organisation, so can offer unbiased and objective advice and products.

In addition, the fire protection products we source for our clients are 'industry best' and always tailored to their appropriate needs. We never over or under engineer equipment, rather work with clients to determine the very best solution for their needs.

Services

We provide across the board services for residential and commercial clients including:

Portable firefighting equipment (PFE)

Across all fire protection systems, we make sure client systems are always 100% operational, primed for any emergency, and always within required compliance.

Fire hose reels & fire hydrants

We locate these items in strategic areas of buildings to enable effective firefighting. We also provide required testing and maintenance.

Fire sprinklers

Our systems, when properly installed, reduce the damage to property from water, smoke and fire.

Services

Fire pump sets

Our pump sets provide vital high-water pressure flow for fire sprinkler systems, fire hydrants and fire hose reels.

Fire detection & alarm systems

Our fire detection and alarm systems are designed to discover fires early to ensure there is time for occupants to safely evacuate the space.

Emergency warning & intercom systems (EWIS)

The most important part of fire prevention is its early detection. Our EWIS systems save lives by providing notification and proper communication during an evacuation.

Exit and emergency lighting

Our exit and emergency lighting meets all Australian standards. In the event of an emergency, these lights play a significant role in the safety of those in the building.

ICG – Interior Construction Group

Dimitri and his team's professionalism and knowledge of fire systems is impressive. It's matched by their on-site service and delivery. Highly recommended.

Joe Taouk
General Manager

Intermain

The team at Colossus are very proactive and helpful. Nothing is a fuss or too hard. They always deliver a great product. Definitely recommend them.

Jim Getsios
Construction Director

RFT Consultancy

Colossus Fire Protection is a reliable contractor that has always delivered each project on time. I wouldn't hesitate in recommending their services to my clients, head contractors and the property managers I work with.
